  - How? Bids will be submitted via e-mail to the current RCBC.
  - When? Bids should be submitted at least one week prior to the RCB, unless exceptions are granted by current RCBC.
    - What if? If an area has an established rotation system, the next chapter in the rotation will submit a bid.
    - What if? If no bids are submitted by the end of the RCB, the VP of Chapter Engagement will work with area leaders to implement a rotation system.
2. The current RCBC will compile and send all bids to the VP of Chapter Engagement and the IFT Executive Office.
3. At the RCB, the RCBC will facilitate a discussion about the next RCB, and chapters that have submitted a bid can make a pitch for their bid.
4. Following the RCB, chapters will vote on which bid to select for the next RCB
  - How? Each Chapter President will receive a link from the IFT Executive Office to an online survey and will cast one vote on behalf of their chapter. Chapters do not have to send representatives to the RCB in order to vote.
  - When? The survey will open at or immediately after the RCB and close 2 weeks later. All votes must be finalized by May 1st
    - What if? If an area with a rotation system receives multiple bids, a challenger bid which receives more votes can trump the bid of the next chapter in the rotation.

ACCOUNTABILITY PROCESS

Purpose:

Every volunteer leader of IFTSA has accepted the responsibilities of their position with this organization, including, but not limited to, those found in the Bylaws, Operations Manual, and in the mission and vision statements. The accountability procedures outlined here ensure that each leader will uphold their fiduciary commitments and responsibilities including conducting themselves in a manner becoming of an IFT member.

Overall Process:

When information of a potential infraction is received it should be reported to the IFTSA OOP. The members of the OOP will decide if the infraction occurred and if so whether the violation was major or minor. If the information is brought against a member of the OOP, that member will be disqualified from participating in this accountability process as a member of the OOP. If the potential infraction is minor, a three-step system will be implemented. Prior to this three-step system, a pre-warning from the OOP will give notice of violation and the proceeding process if an infraction occurs again. If the infraction is major, the information will be brought to the IFTSA Board of Directors (BoD) for a vote of removal.

Three Step System:

- Step one: A verbal warning will be sent from the OOP to the individual responsible. In this warning, the violation will be presented to the individual responsible. It should contain a summary of events leading to the violation and the disciplinary actions that will occur if violations continue.
- Step two: A developmental conversation shall occur between the IFTSA OOP and the individual. In this meeting, the individual and the OOP will create an action plan. All members present will sign this plan.
- Step three: The information shall be brought to the IFTSA BoD. The BoD will hear from both the individual involved and the OOP. After deliberating, the BoD will vote on removing the individual from their volunteer position. Two-thirds (or similar fraction based on numbers present) of the BoD must vote in favor of removal for the vote to pass. If the individual is a member of the BoD they must abstain from voting and will not count towards the two-thirds fraction of present voting members. If the vote to remove does not pass, the individual will remain in their volunteer position. Every violation following the third step shall be brought straight to the BoD for these proceedings.

Major Violations:

- Major violations, including, but not limited to, matters relating to ethics, harassment, and discrimination will be brought straight to the BoD.
- The BoD will hear from both the individual involved and the OOP. After deliberating, the BoD will vote on removing the individual from their volunteer position. Two-thirds (or similar fraction based on numbers present) of the BoD must vote in favor of removal for the vote to pass. If the individual is a member of the BoD they must abstain from voting and will not count towards the two-thirds fraction of present voting members. If the vote to remove does not pass, the individual will remain in their volunteer position. Every violation following the third step shall be brought straight to the BoD for the step-three proceedings.
